New IAAF member-friendly website

Have you taken a look at the new Independent Automotive Aftermarket Federation (IAAF) website?

IAAF members can review latest industry activities and an exclusive range of member-only benefits at www.iaaf.co.uk as well as association news. New visitors can find out about the IAAF's services.

The site includes news of the IAAF's most recent lobbying activities, e.g. MoT testing proposals and communication with Vauxhall over Zafira fires.

Wendy Williamson, IAAF chief executive, said: "We are committed to promoting both the IAAF and our members' interests. The new website is a professional platform to connect more directly with members, enabling us to work with them to promote their business and the independent aftermarket."

Visit the site to access the member's Alternative Dispute Resolution scheme and free legal helpline, just two of the professional, supportive services IAAF provides. Exclusive information is given on service providers, as well as any recent legislation affecting the industry.

Regular updates will address developments crucial to the success of members' businesses.

Not an IAAF member? Call your local IFA Member to discuss how IAAF membership could benefit your business and your industry.

Have you registered for the CV Show?

If you haven't already, the time has come to register to visit the 2016 CV Show at www.cvshow.com. Entry is free for the event which takes place at the Birmingham NEC from 26th to 28th April, 08.30 to 17:30.

Attracting nearly 20,000 business visitors, the CV Show is the best attended, largest and most comprehensive road transport and logistics event held in Britain. Three quarters of the visitors are fleet owners, senior managers and engineers.

New Gates Heavy Duty thermostats - an exact fit for today's trucks & buses

Gates new range of heavy commercial vehicle thermostats fit and perform like the original. Their exact fit avoids leaks and maintains engine temperatures strictly within OE specifications. High quality construction ensures a long, trouble-free life - no compromise on quality means all the OE fit and performance criteria are met.

The range has been introduced building on Gates expertise in passenger car thermostats, a comprehensive range of over 500 references.

The new heavy duty thermostat range includes numerous types of thermostats to provide the same design as specified by truck and bus manufacturers. Several are supplied with the matching gasket or seal to correspond with the OE offer.

Gates thermostats for trucks & buses offer:

- Fast engine warm-up
- Precise engine operating temperature control
- Good fuel economy
- Low emissions
- Optimum engine performance

Thermostat issues often emerge during the winter months, when there are heating problems inside the cabin. It is not easy to spot thermostat ageing and problems that are likely to cause thermostat failure so it is prudent to replace the thermostat whenever replacing any faulty part in the cooling system. If a thermostat fails - or only loses some functionality - there can be severe consequences, including engine damage.

Gates are committed to continued heavy investment in a full aftermarket thermostat range for Heavy Commercial Vehicles. The range currently covers the seven most important makes: Iveco, Scania, DAF, Mercedes-Benz, Volvo, MAN and Renault with both traditional and housing thermostats.

Truck & Trailer Specialists Scoop IAAF Award

Warm congratulations to Truck & Trailer Specialists, a Member of the IFA, who received the coveted award 'CV Distributor of Excellence' at the IAAF Awards Dinner in December.

The event, held at the ICC in Birmingham and sponsored by Comma Oil, saw the award made in front of the 600 guests and more than 30 aftermarket companies. Truck & Trailer Specialists MD Paul Cousins is pictured below with the award with Wendy Williamson, Chief Executive of the IAAF and John Inverdale, event speaker and compère.

DAF Goes the Gates Way with Heavy Duty Quality

Gates, a preferred supplier for most of Europe's major heavy duty vehicle manufacturers, has recently become the OE choice for Auxiliary Belt Drive Systems on a range of DAF trucks

DriveAlign® Tensioners and Micro-V® Belts are already available in kits for these DAF applications

DAF's switch clearly demonstrates that you can trust Gates products

Visit GatesTechZone.com for installer support:

- ensure a first time fit on trucks and buses
- increase efficiency & keep downtime to a minimum
- eliminating unnecessary rectification work

Gates EXTRA SERVICE HGV programme provides trouble-free, long-lasting solutions for the demanding working conditions placed on trucks and buses

Gates Heavy Duty Kits are available for a range of engine codes for DAF models: XF 105 (410, 460, 510), XF 95 (560) and CF 85 (360, 410, 460 and 510)
